AMANDA WARES HOMESCHOOL HELPS DIRECTOR

Amanda is married to Michael and has 4 children: Susannah, 23, Killian, 19, Katrielle, 16, and Deacon, 11. This is their 15th year homeschooling and her 10th year on the NCHE board, where she currently serves as homeschool helps director. In addition to her roles as wife and stay-at-home mom/teacher, Amanda also serves on the board of her local homeschool group and teaches sign language at a co-op. In all her spare time, she loves to read, plan field trips and encourage new homeschoolers!

RONDA MARSHALL NCHE BOARD MEMBER & ADVISOR

Ronda and her husband, Mike, live in Asheville, NC, are in their 26th year of homeschooling, have graduated 5 children and currently have one at home. This past year, they were blessed to welcome their first two grand children!

They have served on the NCHE board since 2003 and have established homeschool support groups, email groups, co-ops, enrichment classes and conferences in their area. Ronda is the director of Biltmore Church Homeschool Ministry that serves over 200 families in western NC. She has had the privilege of speaking at various support groups and state conferences where she loves having the opportunity to encourage families in this wonderful, yet sometimes challenging, homeschooling journey.

MELANIE WILLIS REGION 2 LIAISON

Melanie lives in Dobson, NC, the county seat for Surry County. Her family recently moved there from the coast of NC, although she is a mountain girl born and raised in Buncombe County, NC. She and her husband, Matt, always planned on homeschooling their children and have homeschooled since 2010. Matt and Melanie planted a church in 2005 with two others families, and Melanie has been children's ministry director for most of that time. They recently purchased a farm in Surry County and plan on having an educational re-treat center in the future. They raise dairy goats along with Jersey cows, donkeys, and horses. They are enjoying showing their children a different way of doing life while following the will of God

MATTHEW MCDILL NCHE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Matthew McDill and his wife, Dana, have been homeschooling their 9 children for 16 years. He is the executive director for North Carolinians for Home Education and continues to serve as president of the board. Through his ministry, Truth to Freedom (truthtofreedom.org), he teaches and writes about discipleship, marriage, family, parenting, home education and church.
